H. Clay Miner Has the Seat, but "Tim" Says There Are Other Elections to Come.

HIS CHAT WITH THE PRESIDENT.

Delicacy Prevented a Discussion of the State of the Nation-How He Helped Cleveland's Nomination at a Party in Albany.

"A man who can't stand the adversity aint fit for the boom of pres-perity," sagely remarked ex- gressman Timothy J. Campbell yesterds The pride of the Oriental Club had smed from just breakfasted at ! lumbla street.

"Yes, sir," the ongressman from the "to use an expression beard before, I'm a lit-Ninth conti sloner the witnesses wouldn't attend. Why, I had Miner himself subpoenaed, but he wouldn't show up, because he knew I'd prove my case out of his own mouth. "Then there's Tim Sullivan. He kept way on the ground that he was privileged a account of being a member of the State enate. Ing to take hold of Taumany again. I dim't know he'd ever let go. Down at the Coney Island race track, before my campaign. The Sollivan wanted me to see Croker about my running, but I let it go at that. Croker was for Miner, and I knew they wanted me to pull out, so I played shy. Has the paper got anything about John Mason's appointment as Revenue Collector? The President made it out when I was with him. Mason, you know, lives in month.

To colonel Ingersoll will deliver his discourse on "Shakespeare" at the Broadway Theatre to-night. This lecture has been praised by lovers and scholars of the immortal bard and is considered by them the best lecture that has ever been given upon the life and works of the great poet. It is announced that it does not touch upon the subject of religion in any way, and therefore, will not offend the scruples of the most devont believer in Ohristianity. The box office will be opened at I o'clock this afternoon, and seats can still be obtained.

Three Original Youngsters.

Magistrate Simms took a great interest in the complaint of Saloon Keeper Chris Murpby, of No. 293 Avenue C, showing, as it did, that while older and more progressive thieves are getting in their work on Uncle Knickerbocker, the young are still able to look out for themsleves, and are even doing some things that are truly original.

On Friday the bartender noticed that the
